ern Portngel and the city of Lichon to distract the advancing Wellington. So Jack on made his alarmed, and as needlessly. Wellington went on triumphently to the Douro, and here he met the concentration of the French, and was checked hy a remarkable coincidence, his right wing, as with McClellan at the Chickahominy, was only saved from destruction in being extriceted by the firmness of his troops. He retreated across the Guarena and fell back upon Salamanca We know the glory of that battlefield to England It was the Torkey Bend of the contest. The French ansteined defeat. Wellington, In his flush of victory (as if McClellan had dashed on Fort Darling after his week of hattles), lay siege Io Burgos, and was compelled to raise it and to enter upon a disastrons and appalling retreat io the face of the still concentrating arms of the French. He fell back (a McClellan did not to Yorktown) upon his first conquest of Cind.d Rodrigo and went into cantonments, and set to work to prepere for another campaign to regain hivantage ground. And yet, with disaster far greater than McClellan has anffored, falling back bundreds of miles from the cepital he had taken, instead of a dezen, and at a long distance from his recruiting officee-months off instead of days; and yet, with thie difference, the British historians pronounce the campaign of Salamanca the most glorious in their history, and notwithstanding the great disappointment la England at lts "nntoward conclu slon," it was evident, says the British annalist, "on a calm ratrospect, that anccess had been inmense, and the French power in Spain received a fatal wound, while in the new position of Wel liogton a sense of his security paralyzed the French as much as it animated the British army It remains to be seen if a calm retrospect what the Federal arms heve accomplished since the year opened cen convince our ill-wishers shroud that our situation, relatively more con manding than Wellington's at Ciudad Rodrigo, is such that we can effect, when we next move, the glory of a Vitlorla.

MORGAN IN GEORGETOWN. GEORGETOWN, KY, July 17, 1862.

On Monday last onr town was filled with rumors of the approach of various hands of guarillas, variously estimated as to numbers. About eleven o'clock it was ascertained that a hand of about one hundred had quartered themselves on The premises of a noted secessionist, some four miles from Iown, In the direction of Payne's depot. The Home Guard, alded by Captain Top'e compa ny, from Eagle creck, were, as soon as possible. monnted and in pursuit, but fortunately or unfortnnately, before they reached the ground occapied by them, the enemy proceeded on the'r journey, In the direction of Paris. On the following evening, Morgan with some seven hundred approached and quietly rested on the hill near town, and were waited on hy our cltizens, and the town formally surrendered to him, with positive assurence that persons and property should the respected and protected.

It is estimated that during his stay here his band etole some two hundred of the finest horses in the entire county, mostly from Union men, i fact in some cases taking the last horse owned by

There are many instances related truly amusing, if it were proper to he amused at anch daring villainy as was perpetrated during Their stay of one day and two nights. In one case they selected a favorite horse of one of our farmers. He remonstrated, telling tham he could not scare the horse, and offered them any other horse on his farm is lien, but no, that was the horse they must have; finally, after starting off and returning in a short time, our friend was accisted: "Well, friend, you seem not willing to part with the horse; what will you give me for hlm?" The fermer reedily agreed to give all the Moino nel Rey, Mexico, "Rey Moino nel Rey, Mexico," accested: "Well, friend, you seem not willing to money he had (about one hundred dollars, it is said), which he paid over. The seller galloped off, and in a very short time another hand of The same party returned for the came horse; fortn nately our friend had removed him heyond their

We hear of no one heing injored by persone violence during his etay; they made no arros.s save that of S. W. Thompson, onr Provost Marshal, who was taken to Cynthiana and Paris, and there released.

It is disgusting to hear meu, who pass for re spectable mea, speaking of Morgan and his hand as "perfect gentlemen," and in some cases a "perfect Sonthern gentlamen." I would like t know the difference in morels hetween stealing horses in person and glving aid and comfort, h smlles and conntenance, to those engaged in it and in some cases giving Ihem Information where the property may be found.

FRIDAY, JULY 25, 1862.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR -Among the last glorions sentiments delivered by the patriotic Stephen A. Donglas was this: "Tho conspiracy to break up the Union is a fact now but it seems he has changed his sex, thrown known to all. Armles are being raised, and away his bow, and betaken himself to pistolwar levied to accomplish it. There can be practice. Oh, ramrods and percussion caps! but two sides to the controversy. Every man what next? must be on the side of the United States or against it. There can be no neutrals in this war. There can be none but l'atriots and Traitors." This makes up the issno clearly, distinctly, and foreibly. Indifference is treason, and no loyal man can hold hack when the bugle calls to arms and the drum invites to enlistment in the ranks of the Union's defenders. Men and means are the sinews of war; the young and active can fornish the former, and the aged and infirm the latter. Every citizen should have a representative in the army; those who cannot go in person should provide for the families of others who are anxions to enlist but are deterred by domestic considerations. The necessity is urgent, and we trust that every man will strive to quicken the enthusiasm of his neighbor, and impress them with a proper sense of their duties. There should be every hamlet, village, town, and city in tho Stato should be cmu'ous to send its quota of recruits, and more than its proportion if possible. Patriotic enthusiusm ould become contagious and infuse itself into tho lukewarin. Kentucky has on every proper occasion renewed her determination to remain loyal to the Union; her sons have sanctified the holy causo by libations of their blood on almost every battlefield west of the Alleghonics. At Mill Spring, Calboon, Woodbury, Piketon, Paintville, Prestonsburg, Fort Henry, Donelson, Shiloh, Lebanon, Wartraco, and other their daring. Their spirit must not flag when it is most needed. Thoso who come to their country's rescue in her hour of peril will live in after ages as herces, while those who are recreant to duty will be remembered as falso traitors and dastardly cowards. Men of Kentneky, aronso! Your country calls on you to support your brothers now in arms. Will yon heed the eall or will you allow them to perish for want of assistance, and the heritage which your fathers gave you become a birthright of shame for your children! To arms, overy loyal man! To arms! and crush ont re bellion!

John Morgan is great on proclamations Wherever he tarries a day in his rapid flight he issues a flaming manifesto to Kentuckians At Georgetown, which is a rabid secession lo cality, he was most liberal in his promises, and grandiloquent in his appeals. We give John the benefit of a full copy of his inspiration:

KENTUCKIANS !- I come to liberate you from as a hand of goerillas and marauders. Believe it not. I point with pride to their daeds as a refutaion to this foul aspersion. We come not to mo lest peaceful individuals or to destroy private properly, but guarantee absolute protection to all who are not in arms against un. We ask only to meet the hireling legions of Lincoln. The yes of your hrethren of the South are upon you. Your gallant fellow ci izans are fixking to our standard. One armine are residue advancing to standird. On armies are rapidly advancing to your protection. Theu greet them with the will-ing hands of fifty thonsend of Kentncky's hrave. Their advance is already with you. Then

"Strike for the Green Graves of your Sires!"
"Strike for your Altars an 'your Fires!"
God and your Native Land? JOHN H. MORGAN,

Brig. Gen. C. S. A. In the body of this proclamation, Morgan got under such a full headway of lying, that he could not "reverso his engine" when he came to the end, and therefore wrote himself "Brigadier General," a title to which he has no right. But it is amusing to dissect John's its citizens has suffered a wrong that was not should penetrate to Lexington or Paris, he his foe has cowardly iled from his avenging thousand armed and mounted men, and yet arm, when it is known that he never he has fled from the State with scarcely a inferior force inspred him success: when his whole raid has been based upon his ability to tako advantage of the falso security of the State by a rapid movement through it before troops could be collected to oppose him, and when his band is now seampering, like a pack to be lowered or removed! of frightened wolves, before Clay Smith. III asserts that he came not to moles peaceful individuals or to destroy private prop riv. when his route from Lebanoa to Somerses all through the wide circuit he made, has been blazed with indignities and robberies, perpetrated not upon those "in arms," but npon quiet civilians, farmers at their plonghs and otel kocpers at their licensed avocations. Ho affec's auxiety to meet "tho hireling legions of Lincoln," but when Gen. Smith offered him battle at Paris with a force hastily collected and inadequately armed, the braggart started at the top of his speed, and, using the race horses he had stolen to the hest advantage, he was at Crab Orchard on Monday evening, nearly oighty miles distant, where his brutal companions injured Carson's hotel to the amount of one thousand dollars, during a brief stay, before they skedaddled again to ward Somersct. He boasts that eitizens were flocking to his standard, when he had previously confessed that instead of receiving the aid he anticipated he had obtained hut a by Col. M. to tay that there is not a word of few vagabonds for whom he had to steal horses. He tells Kentuckiane that ho is the advance of an army rapidly advancing to their protection, when he commenced retreating as soon as he heard of Gen. Smith's advance. and has not stopped running since, except to bait his jaded animals and allow his men to steal clothes, boots, shoes, watches, and what. ev.r movables they could lay hands upon. word "loyalty" spoken. The whole of Morgan's effusion is ineffahly mendacious, and can be summed up only by have learned how the work is to be done.

This war eannot ho prosecuted without a free use of money. Gold and silver are necessary to keep up the active movements of iron, lead, and steel, the significant word-"bosh."

IN MY SLIPPERS, July 19, 1862. MR PRENTICE—Sir: You speak in your paper of a light and pleasant mansion prapared in your city for ercesh women, as you call them. Now we would eay to you, frierd, if we choult ever have the ill for inne to be placed in, and the good fortune to gat out of this mancion, we would take aim cartain at your heart. Now don't enpose we would attempt to carriers ayour heart, for we would would attempt to capture your heart, for we would not be troubled with the hard articla. But a lit-tle round hullet will explain the object of our aim, and wa never make an attempt that wa don't Respectfully, Thank you, "Love," for your kind and flattering intentions. You wrote to us, it seems, in your ''slippers," and of course felt free and easy, as we would have you feel always in the repast with you. A contemporary says there is "no truth in rebel women," and we feel ho is right, but we will try, with your sweet leave, whether we can squeeze any out of you by putting you "to press." You say you never attempt anything withont encceeding. Of course then you are married, but we assure you, that, when you aro confined, Mr. "Love" will not be permitted to share your quarters. If, when you are shut up, you feel ut if you would like to 'tako a drive", you can upon the occasion of some visit of his while you and we are together. drive him out. We rather regret your determination to discharge a hullet at us if you can get discharged yourself. Wo think you had better shoot Gen. Boyle, for to him, not us, yon will owo the loss of your 'rights," and, besides, he is a soldier by profession and so paid for being shot at. "Love" in the olden time was a boy armed with bow and arrows,

We are assured by a member of the Committee on the Conduct of the War that the assertion that any evidence has been taken before that Committe, against Gen. Mitchel, as eome journals heve asserted, is utterly fasce. No charges have been made against Gen. Mitchel in any official or cemi-official form.—N. Y. Tribune. The member of the committee who gave the Pribune this assurance either spoke before the therges against Gen. Mitchel with the evidenes supporti g them were submitted to the committee or spoke in ignorance of the procecdings of the committee or spoke with a lying intent. He at all events spoke incorrectly. The contrary of what he said is the truth. Wo are assured on direct and unimpeachable anthority that the charges against General Mitchel with the evidence supporting them were formally laid before the committee by Col. Norton. There can be no possibility of mistake in this. Indeed, the friends or partisans of General a great loyal uprising throughout Kentucky; Mitchel at Washington no longer deny it. "What I wrote and telegraphed the other day about there being absolutely no churges preferred against Gen. Mitchel," says one of the Cincinnati Gazette's Washington correspondents, who is among the most reckless and rampant of the champions of Gen. M., "was then literally trus. Since then Col Norton has arrived, boaring voluminous papers relating to the sacking of Athens and other outrages of Turehin's brigade, and to an alleged conncetion between Gen. Mitchel and certain cotton speculators. These papers have been submitted to the Committee on the Conduct of the spots, now historic, they have won tho highest War, though what militury object is sought to renown. This must not now be tarnished; there must be no blemish on their loyalty or ndent admits, with such grace as ho possesses, that he went off at half-eeck, in his fuming vindication of Gen. Mitchel. Doubtless the offence of the Tribnne's informant has but the same extent. Be this as it may, certain it is the charges against Gen. Mitchol with the evidence supporting them have been fermally laid before the committee by a responsible acceser. What the commit

That steadily pursuing the wise policy of or fathers, we never mean to interfere in the inter nal conflicts of foreign States. But here, beneath this onistretched sky, in the presence of Almighty God, and of one a sother, wa pledge our lives, our furtunes, and our sacred honor, never to abandon his etruggle while there remains a traitor in the and, and that any armed Intervention, by any foreign power in our present domestic sfil ction, shall prove the signel for the spirit of linerty to commence its triumphant merch through Enrope. It seems to us that nothing will sooner teach the European nations the danger of interfering between the rebels and the just vengeaneo o our government, than the alacrity which is manifested in enrolling the new army of 300, 000 in defence of the country. Whon men by the quarter million can bo called into service by a Presidential proclamation, the ricketty despotisms of the old world will pause long before they rushly engage in quarrel with ns.

The escape of Morgan and his band from Kentucky is certainly a great shame to far greater injury to his friends than to his encmies. It is probablo that large quantities of silver have been hoarded by the timid, and as soon as postago stamps become of general ise, as a circulating medium, they will be ound in circulation again. Silver is not scarce, or you can buy as much of it as you want, if on agree to submit to a very heavy remium for it. It is not much exported, becanse it is below the British sterling standard, and the banks hold a great deal of it, which must beeomo current again as soon as some degree of confidence is restored. Tho country has amplo cause to congratnlate itself upon the enactment by Congress of sevoro penaltice against tho issuing of shinplasters by individuals. Their utterance and passago are contrary to law, and they always tend to increase prices, while the general cirulation is demornlizing as hegetting a conempt for legal restriction, and familiarizing the public with modes for evading, if not absolutely defying, the laws.

FOUR - HORSE THRESHER.

With Wrought Iron Cylinder.

WE have, during the last seven years, manufactured and sold over two thousants of these Threshers. The cylinder of the Thresher is made of wrought iron Instead of wood, and ation the shafing habe to wear is made of size I instead of host. The great advantage of the iron cylinder is that it is lighter than wood, much more durante, range with greater once and regularity, is safer, and less liable to get out of balance, end is in every respect more reliable and efficient.

The Two-Horse Power and Thresher (which is also arranged for four levers) is made in the same style as the Four Horse, with icrought iron cylinder. This machine is projectionably lighter than the Four-Horse, and is admirably adapted for the farmer's own use. This machine will thresh from 150 to 250 bushels of wheat per day or 300 to 300 bushels of oats per day.

HOMICIDE IN FRANKFORT -At ucon yesterday a young man of the name of Perry, of Owen county, was shot at Frankfort by S. N. Hodges. of this city. The statement to us by an intelligent and reliable gentleman of Frankfort is, that, 8. N. Hodges, who was somewhat known in this city as a rabid secessionist, and who went to New Orlnans to aid the rebullion, has professed since his return e very thorough conversion. As is per feetly reasonable, his conversion was extensively loubted. When the Morgan raid commence Hodges went to Frankfort end voluntoered his services to act as a member of a scouting party against Morgen's gnerilla gang. They were accepted, though very many persons stood in doubt of his position. Young Parry, of Owen, expressed his conviction that Hedges was a Morgan spy, and at noon to day they mst, when Hedges draw e horse-platel and shot him through the liver. The wound was very large, and le necessarily fatal. When the train left Frankford yestorday afternoon Parry was dying. The paople of Frankfort wern greatly exasperated with this act of vengeance, and for a awhile there was danger that Hodgas would he executed at onen but he was lodged in prison, and we hope that the law will be permitted to assert its supremecy and taka ita proper conree.

Honry C. Bush, a rahid secessionist, who le bnen threatening to harn down the houses of Union men and to beve them bung, was brought down lest evaning by Capt. John W. Tydings, who is to send him home, and it was on his passagn that received the appointment from Gen. To the Editors of the Louisville Journal: OWENSBORO, Ky., July 22, 1862. GENTLEMEN: On Friday last at noon news was ceived here of the occupation of Henderson and xpulsion of the Union men by the gnerillas.

The bells were rung, a hasty conneil held, and the unanimous resolution was to fight and not to vacnate. Boxes of gnus and ammunition, which Judge esman had the day before brought from Louis rille, were hastily opened and distributed, and the question seemed to he, not who would take, but who could get something to shoot with. Laorere, mechanics, doetors, lawyers, merchante, benkers, preachers, came, earnestly dams nding

While this was going on, a notoricus seesh was on the strest exulting over the fall of Hen deraon in a most it sulting manner, mounted a horse, and etarted in that direction. A couple of conriers were sent for him to bring him to town. He refused to be arrested, showed light, and was shot dead.

In the evening the company was organized acc Yeemen elected Captain. They slapt apou thair orms Friday night. At midnight they learned the gnerillas had crossed Green river end then the Ohio, and robbed Newburg, in Indians, and returned to the North side of Green river.

Saturday end Sunday nights were spent in the same way, with the country well picketed. But the gnerillas did not come, although they had storted here, and they did not come becomes they heard we wore ready for ihem. On Monday morning, the committee appciated previously reported four erticles of war, one of which is that the Home Guard companies of the county are organized into a hattalion under the control of Geo. H Ynaman as Colonel command ing; and annther is that the commander is meest ed with full power to make and execute such or ders se may be necessary for the defence and safe ty of the loyal men of the county; that one article was about all that was wented. The commander had announced that while the force was under his control he would be master of its movements, end tebies ; that resident socials ; that resident secesh would not be allowed to approve or encouregn the system of murder, robbery, that, and courging of from white men, which had prevailed a Henderson, and was about to be transferred to Daviers; neither rhould they laugh and snigger whon such successes worn announced; and if it neame necessary he would order some rough work donn a mong them. This was received with oud applanse and marked commendation.

And so the war goes. It took the Union min of this community just a year and a half to get mad. They are mad now, and intend to stay mad notil things are put to rights. If the example that occurred on Friday is not enflicient to convince resident secesh that we intend to use our gnne, other examples will be afforded as they are needed. Our town is now remarkably quiet, both BUCK & BALL. night and day.

GALT House, Louisville, Ky., July 24, 1862. A meeting of the Union Executive Committee of the Eighth Judiciel District beving been called on this day at the Galt Honso by the Chairman of the Committee, of which all the members of the Committee were daly notified, the undersigned were alone present.

Thos. A. Berryman, E:q, of Owen, and Gio C. Drane, Eq, of Henry, being the only candidates before us, the former declined in favor of Gno. C. Drane, Ecq, whom we cordially accept and recommend to the Union party as the Uoion greater cordiality inasmuch as we are convinced that Mr. Drane combinus the elements of fitness and availability in a degree that must command anccess. He is eminently worthy the hearty support of nynry Union man in the District; and we trust be will receive it.

ANDREW SHUCK, of Hopry. JNO. R. GRAHAM, of Frank'in.

The question was raised in the Common Council last avaning as to whather cartain gentle man holding efficial positions under the city charter wern competent to run for office ander the same instrument. The lower board of the Gene ral Council decided that, as Harry Stucky, ces held by them at present are vacant, and le accordance with such decision, a special election Sincky is the present City Auditor, and Is a can-Tomppert is the Interrnter for the City Court, and ern District. Mr. Tomppert le e candidate for seesor of Taxes for the county. The question wes not brought buforn the Beard of Aldermer and therefore remeins unsettled.

There ern few divines who can more deenly fnel the sentiment of the patrlarch, when he sadly said his children had brought his gray hairs in sorrow to the grava, than the Rev. Robert J Breckinridge. Two of his sons are actively serving in the rebal army, end one of them is a member of Morgan's marauders. But the old patriot is as firm, as undaunted, es unconquerable, as his master John Knox. His eye still sparkles for his country with the light of vigoroce manhox d, his step is still firm, and his ecurage is all that Kentucky demands of her sons. What a brilliant page of the history of this Southern rebellion have the deeds of this noble Kontncklan written. Bis name is honored wherever freedom under the restraints of law is recognized as a blessing to map and will bo as etnrnal as the Alleghenies which tower toward the hasyons. The Morgan pireter made many offorts to steal this renowned Kentuckian in their recent piratical excursion.

DEATH OF A SOLDIER .- We are called upon to announce the death of Joseph R. Underwood McElroy, a member of the Ninth Kentncky ln fantry. Hn died on Monday last of this city, on the train at the depot of the Lonisville end Nashville Railroad, while his frinnds wern in the set of conveying him to his father's residence. in Allan county, Ky. Mr. McElrov hed been wounded in the battle et Shiloh, and been sent to accused of sympethizing with Morgen, and hee St. Louis for treatment, whore he received the most dayoted attention from the officers of the hospital end kind friends. THE EIGHTH CENSUS - Phrough the courtesy of H n J C. G. Kenaedy, the Superioteedeat of the Eighth Ceesue, we are permitted to make the following interesting extracts from the Prelimi nary Report on the Ceasus of 1860 :

nary Report on the Ceasus of 1860:

Thus far is our history no State has declined in population. Vermont has remained nearly etationary, and is saved from a positive loss of it habitants by only one-third of one per ceat. Naw Hampshire, likewise, has gaioed, but slowly, her herement being only 8,697, or two and one half per cect. On that of 1850. Mains has made the satisfactory increase of 45,110, or 7.74 per cent. The old agricultural States may be said to be filled up, safar es regerds the reconcessed ped to a reral pupulation in the present condition of agricultural science. The conditions of their increase undergo a change apon the general occur parlon and allotment of their areas. Manufactines and commerce then come in to sapply the means of second-tenes to an excess of inhabit ants beyond whet the ordinary cultivation of the soil can sustein. This point in the progress of pepulation has been reached, and, perhaps, passed in most if not ell of the New England States. But while statistical science may demonstrate within narrow limits the nursher of persons who may extract a subsistence from each quare mile of sreble land, it cannot compute with any real goasble epproach to certainty the additional pupulation, resident on the same soil, which may obtain Is living by the thousand herenches of erlificial industry which the demands of society and civilization have created. This is forcibly illustrated by the returns relative to the three other. civilization have created This Is forcibly illa rated by the ratures relative to the three other New England States—Massachusette, Khoda Ja-Jand and Connecticu—which coetain 13 780 square mile. the following table shows their population in 1850 and 1860:
